The January ceremonial of Almas Temple, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, was knights were warned by the streak of held last Thursday evening at Na-dawn that they must leave this happy southern jurisdiction. tional Rifles Armory. Notwithstanding unfavorable weather, there was a larg. attendance of local and visiting Nobles. The work was exceedingly well done by the divan of Almas.

Potentate Raymond issued an exceedingly attractive circular for this ceremonial session. It was righly embellished with cartoons by Noble Clifford K. Berryman. The most notable one was a full-length aketch of the Potentate, holding in his hand a real rabbit's foot attached to the circular by a string Accompanying this good-luck greeting is a full-page picture of the churchyard in . which the rabbit's feet was secured by the easential "old cullud person." Accompanying the circular there is a list of the Almas Nablez who have joined the immumerable caravan during the last year, as follows: John H. Sanderson, Deyear, is follows: John H. sergeant, John Finan. Rev. Thomas Chalmers Easton, of the Eastern Presbyterian Church of this city, recently delivered the funeral sermon over the remains of his old friend, Gen. Allen C. Fuller, well known in this city, who died at Belvidere, III. When the war broke out in 1861 General Fuller was tendered, and accepted, the appointment of Adjutant General of the State, resigning the office of Circuit Judge, which he held at that time. That General Fuller ac-ceptably filled this important office of organizing and sending to the field over 200,000 men is attested by the records of the State. Governor Yates stated in his message that General Fuller had been a most able and faithful officer, and entitled to the gratitude of the State. The House of Representatives unnimously adopted a report of its committee appointed to inspect the Adjutant General's office, finding it a model of completeness and one that preserves in all its glory the proud record of all our soldiery.

He had held the offices of Marter in He had held the offices of Master-in-Chancery, County and Circuit Judge, Rep-resentative of the General Assembly, Speaker of the House, State Senator, President of the Senate, and Adjutant General of the State; and in all those of-fices he had acquitted himself with signal ability and bonor. Or Easton's inneral ability and honor. Dr. Easton's funeral sermon was a fitting testimonial to the worth of the public and private career of this prominent man. The business houses of the city were mostly all closed during the funeral services. Many old soldiers, friends and representative citizens, were present to help consign the remains to the tomb, and the bare earth was strewn with many floral tributes to the memory of the deceased. Comrade H. E. Taylor, Past Department Commander, Department of Vermont, G. A. R., was in the city last week visiting friends. He served through the war in the old Vermont Brigade, and is now engaged with his con in the insurance busi-ness in Brattleboro, Vt.

It begins to look as though the great Pythian gathering in San Francisco next August will measure well up to the hope felf and expressible for a large and representative assemblage of the Pythian forces. The California brethren are doing all within their power to make the event one of the greatest in importance ever credited to a secret society on the Pacific Coast. From the middle, castern, and western domains there is a growing disposition to attend, and while the forces may not congregate in as large numbers as has been the case in some of the more castern cities it is certain that the at-ficers to come to Washington. Judge Ell Torrance, of Minneapolis, commander-tn-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, will visit Washington next month as the guest of the District of Columbia department of the order,
